BELLE GLADE-PAHOKEE, FL.

Gov. Graham to cut SR80 ribbon Friday

BELLE GLADE -A four-laned State Road 80 will move a step closer to reality Friday, Sept. 28, as Gov. Bob Graham and a host of other officials attend ground breaking ceremonies for the first 13.8 miles of the highway out of Belle Glade.

The program will be held at the R.V. Turner Training Center, about 2.5 miles north of Belle Glade, beginning at 9 a.m. Officials scheduled to speak include Gov. Bob Graham; Tom Lewis, State Senator; President Harry Johnson II; State Senator Don Chidester; State Rep. Ray Liberal; State Rep. Jim Watt; Palm Beach County Commissioner Bill Bailey; U.S. Sugar Vice President Bob Lee; and Canal Hazards

Safety Committee Chairman M. Franklin Jones.

Jones said the project is important simply because of the lives it will save.

"Having been born and raised in the Glades, I'm very pleased with this project," Jones said. "Like just about everyone else in the Glades I know someone who died on that highway."

Marvin Unwin, vice president of the Canal Hazards Safety Committee, said the appearance of the government officials should bring even more attention to State Road 80.

"At this time, we have the governor 100 percent behind us and we're very, very pleased with that," he said.

Jones said actual construction on the first stretch of SR 80, running from Hooker Highway to SR 700, should begin Monday, Oct. 1. He noted that the Department of Transportation has already laid a rough sub-base on the road. Construction for a four-laned road all the way to 20-Mile Bend is scheduled for completion sometime in the summer of 1986.

"What I'm thrilled about is that all of SR 80 (from Belle Glade to West Palm Beach) is going to be contracted within four years," Jones said.

Pahokee faces possible EPA fines for sewer plant

By SUZIE MAYBURY

PAHOKEE-Unless the city council makes some quick decisions on Environmental Protective Association (EPA) code violations of the waste water treatment plant, they could be socked with fines or possibly be cited as a re-refugee from the TREO consultant group from the University of Florida.

But Dr. Barbara Mitchell of the TREO group said if the state can come to Pahokee and provide some input on how to meet code standards, the EPA may be more lenient in their actions.

"Provided the state will come and issue a permit and if the City of Pahokee can demonstrate they are taking substantial strides in getting the plant in compliance with EPA standards then they may be more lenient," Mitchell said.

W.E. McKinstry, president of the Pahokee City Council, pointed out the marked improvements made on the plant since last year and questioned the EPA's demand.

But Mitchell explained although there has been improvements made there are still some problems that must be rectified.

"There are still some lab problems and the plant won't maintain the quality overtime if some of these other problems aren't corrected," she said. "There are some safety features that need to be addressed immediately."

Mitchell pointed out the city's "great effort" in changing the plant and said these changes have resulted in a 180 degree turn-around. However, she added, "It doesn't make sense to put fines to EPA with those funds can be used to improve the plant."

"Monies used to improve the plant will be monies well invested," she said.

The city's director of utilities, Ed Balmer, who has been working closely with Mitchell on the upgrading project, told the council a lift station and a high pressure truck was needed. He also mentioned the laboratory needs some safety features and the function pond needs to be dredged.

The council, in previous budget workshops, had eliminated both the lift station and the high pressure truck from projected expenditures. Mitchell urged the council to review this decision.

McKinstry said, "The thing that scares me about this is the city has gone so far and put in so much work that I'd hate to see anything create additional problems or the work go backwards."

"It may seem like a lot of money now," Mitchell told the council. "But if you sit back and let the EPA come in, I've even been able to tell you what the fine may be."

The council will discuss possible revisions to the utility's department budget at an adjourned meeting set for Thursday, Sept. 27 beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Moratorium on BG sewage plant could be lifted soon

BELLE GLADE -One Removal, Strang said more test on the new sewage treatment plant and it may be as soon as next week that the moratorium placed on the city by the Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) and Health Department will be lifted according to City Manager W.E. "Tom" Strang.

When the city applied for a construction permit for the sewage plant, the DER and health department will presented certain guidelines to meet state standards in take us off sewage equipment," Strang said. "As soon as we will meet all the health department will rewrite the permit to the sewage treatment plant and it may be as soon as next week we're driveways and parking we can."

Cummings said that all standards set by the tank.

At the city commission meeting Monday, Sept. 24, Mayor Thomas L. Altman asked the city manager and John Cumming, of Briley, Wild, and Associates, and project manager of the sewage treatment plant, why the moratorium couldn't be lifted now the city wants to apply for a state grant for sewage improvements, since the plant has already been treated at 95 percent.

"It seems to me the objective of the law is that we meet the standards of the help us get rid of sewage sludge," Altman said.

"We want the fastest possible answer" But right now the city must spend about $18,000 to engineers to rewrite the facility plan to account for that as quickly as for the surface discharge system. The old plan was written for a deep well system which the city decided not to employ, Strang said.

"When the city drew up the facility plans it was considering a deep well system which would have cost close to $3 to $7 million, but we have obtained the surface discharge (dump into canal) at a savings of about $5 million," the city manager said.

In order to take advantage of the grant, however, the city must apply by Nov. 15 Strang said.

In other business Monday, Patty Tritt of Kelting Real Estate, representing Robert Bannum, received commission approval to connect a proposed 23 (1) bedroom and 11 (2) bedroom multi-family units located on the 500-600 block of S.W. 16th Street to the city sewer line.

The mayor said since the housing project isn't scheduled for completion for another six months then they will approve it because by that time the city should be off moratorium.

"This request provides exactly the type of housing we need," said Belle Glade and I think we ought to encourage it," Altman said, adding "but there should be a contingency on the approval that if the plan doesn't go as revisions to existing scheduled" the sewage piping but it doesn't work hook-up will revert so we had to put in a back to the city.

"The city's water treatment plant is by something that basically 100 percent would save considerable money and we made a mistake," Cumming said.

"We tried to scrape treatment plant is by something that basically 100 percent would save considerable money and we made a mistake," Cumming said.

DAVID GRAY of the Palm Beach Symphony

Symphony Assoc. visits commission

BELLE GLADE — The

Greater Palm Beach Symphony Association visited city commissioners at a meeting Monday, Sept. 24, to seek additional funds they might be able to offer in Belle Glade.

Rod Elkins, orchestra manager, said since the symphony had hired a new conductor they were planning on expanding into a regional orchestra.

"Before we hired the new conductor we performed mostly on the island (Palm Beach) but we want to try to gain a greater local audience," Elkins said.

The new conductor, David Gray, said he and Elkins are approaching Palm Beach County residents to introduce the symphony and tell city officials what the orchestra has to offer.

"We must address the community and find out what they want," Gray said. "We can offer programs performances which gives us a broad base musically and musically like that."

Mayor Thomas L. Altman advised the symphony representatives to contact Judy Schiele at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center and also the school system.

"The school systems are always looking out for musical programs that they can incorporate into their school programs," Altman said.

Gray said the Greater Palm Beach Symphony can offer programs of many varieties and perform in small groups or as a large orchestra.

$10.1 million budget okayed

BELLE GLADE — Commissioners approved the city's $10,817,508 budget for the final public hearing Monday, Sept. 24.

The commission also approved a 6,0247 tax millage rate which is an estimated 10 percent higher than the roll back rate. Last year's operating millage levy was $5,4302 million but with an expected $62,100 deficit the city proposed a 10 percent tax hike which raised $4,602,161.

The increase figures to be 4.21 percent more than last year's total operating expenditures.

The breakdown of the more than $10 million budget includes $5,590,422 for the general fund, $258,976 for the federal revenue sharing fund, $1,026,256 for the marina fund and for the water and sewer fund was allotted $4,602,161.

Indonesian experiences related by Gove teacher

By TOM KISKEN

BELLE GLADE - Having spent nearly half of his 23 years in the Third World country Indonesia amongst headhunters and other natives, Randy Mungillo says the experience helped him to truly appreciate America.

"It's so important to live in a different country with different problems because then you really come to appreciate home," Mungillo said. "America is great, there is no country that beats it," he said. Anyone who downgrades this country - it's just very hard for me not to say something."

A first-year physical education teacher at Gove Elementary School, Mungillo moved from Kentucky to Indonesia at the age of 7 when his parents accepted teaching jobs at a missionary school.

Mungillo lived in the town Sentani in the western reaches of Irianjaya, a province of Indonesia formerly named New Guinea. Mungillo lived in Indonesia until about five years ago when he returned home to attend Asbury College, in Louisville, Ky. His parents and younger brother still live in Indonesia.

Sentani, Mungillo said, is about as different from a small town in the United States as one can imagine. Two basic types of people habitate the area: head hunters and converted headhunters.

"New Guinea is the last frontier, it's really the last place where you can see things like headhunters," he said.

The cannibal tribes lived in the wilderness areas. Mungillo said the warriors will kill and eat other men, but in only times of conflict as a way to show great insult.

Among a collection of Indonesian artifacts, Mungillo has two head hunter barbarian spears which he says, are the real McCoy. "When it (the spear) goes in you its not meant to come out," he said.

Headhunters are a very superstitious people. Mungillo said, "Their whole lives are spent appealing spirits."

Tribes are constantly holding spiritual ceremonies and making sacrifices to their Gods. Mungillo said all the little girls have two of their fingers cut off at the knuckles. The fingers are then thrown into the ocean from banana boats as a sacrifice to the spirits.

The natives who live in and around the villages were for the most part head hunters who had converted into Christians, Mungillo said.

"I hear people say missionaries should just leave the natives alone," Mungillo said. "But from my own experiences, the converted Christians always seemed the most happy and content."

Mungillo said that while most of his time was spent in or around the missionary school, he still had a good deal of contact with the natives, both head hunters and the townsfolk.

"They were all real friendly with us," he said. "But it is understood that the white man doesn't get in the way of the wars or anything like that."

America has had much influence in Indonesia, Mungillo said. The only road and airstrip in Sentani were built by American soldiers during World War II. Natives hold great respect for Americans, especially the missionaries, Mungillo said. They constantly inquire about the American way of life.

While the natives have learned much from Americans, Mungillo said, people here could also learn from Indonesians.

The Indonesian government has just about eliminated the country's drug problem by enforcing very strict laws. There is no second chance for drug offenders, he said, noting that convicted dealers are often electrocuted.

Indonesia's whole philosophy of life is refreshing, Mungillo said. "Their life is much more simple, in ways that's good and in other ways it's bad."

Mungillo said that he became particularly aware of the drastic differences between his two homes upon his return to America.

"Everything I ran into was different," he said. "Simple things like writing a check can be a nightmare if you've never done it before."

"Throw me in the middle of an international airport and I'm right at home," he said. "But put me in the middle of a super market and I don't know which end is up."

The food in Indonesia would make most American's stomachs churn, Mungillo said. "They'll eat anything that has legs, in fact they'll eat anything without legs as well."

Seafood is the main course in Indonesia. Mungillo said he still grimaces when he hears Americans talk in reverent terms about delicacies such as red snapper and lobsters.

RANDY MUNGILLO displays his Indonesian headhunter's spear and other mementos of his 11 years in a foreign land.

which are literally a dime a dozen in Indonesia.

Sweet potatoes and greens grown in sewers are other common foods, Mungillo said.

Mungillo returned to Sentani on vacation last summer. He noted that just in five years it seemed as though much had changed.

Eventually, he said, he'd like to return to Indonesia and teach at an American school located in Singapore. He said he thought he could help kids deal with the abroadness.

For now, Mungillo said he is very satisfied teaching in the Glades. "I like the kids and everyone says this (Gove) is suppose to be one of the best schools in the area."

Mungillo said he hopes to stay in the area for a few years and earn his master's degree in counseling at Florida Atlantic University.

Pahokee budget

PAHOKEE - Council members tentatively approved both an additional operating budget of about $1.65 million and a millage rate of 4.27 mills in their meeting Tuesday, Sept. 25.

A final hearing for the budget was set for Thursday, Oct. 4. The council has not yet approved its utilities department budget and will discuss it further in an adjourned meeting Thursday, Oct. 27, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Outgoing Councilman Walt Rashelsky voted against the proposed rate is the same amount of revenues as last year's rate of 4.107 mills.

While the budget and fireman, in light of the millage rate were both presented in a public hearing Tuesday, no public comments were made.

"We have more crime than fire," said Council President W.E. McKinstry said he was opposed to an additional patrolman on the station.

McKinstry said he was not satisfied with the way the current staff was utilizing their working hours.

He said he had no complaints with the quality, but rather the quantity of work.

The millage rate is designed to bring the city the same amount of revenues as last year's rate of 4.107 mills.

While the budget and fireman, in light of the millage rate were both insurance company had agreed unofficially to insure Sgt. Charles Collier without penalty as a city driver. Collier was arrested for drunk driving early this summer and is scheduled to appear before County Judge Don T. Adams for trial Tuesday, Oct. 3. Collier earlier pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Salvatore said he explained the situation to insurance agents and is now waiting to receive a writing document, confirming the company's decision.

City Clerk Betty McCoy asked council members for a raise. "I'm just asking the council to be fair," she said.

Noting that at $19,600 she makes substantially more than other city clerks, McCoy said she had been under the impression she and Salvatore would get raises similar to those approved for other department heads in the new fiscal year.

However, a city ordinance would prevent the clerk and city marshal from receiving a raise until May. Stauder said the council could give immediate raises by changing the ordinance.

member Ada Conley said she supported the raises. The council will discuss the issue at Thursday's meeting, Sept. 27.

Gators romp 27-0 over St. John's

BELLE GLADE - Senior tailback Philip Echols rushed for a school record 263 yards to lead the Glades Day football Gators to a 27-0 stomping over St. John's Neumann of Naples on Friday, Sept. 21.

But even though Coach Byron Walker Jr. was pleased with the game he said he wants to work on penalties.

"We had 130 yards in penalties and in a close ball game that's going to get us beat," Walker said.

In comparing Friday night's victory to previous ones, the Gators coach said the running team showed a marked improvement with 312 yards in rushing. Walker commented that both of fensive and defensive lines had excellent games.

In the passing game,

Jorge Suarez threw

two scoring strikes to Derek Korby.

Walker said he was pleased with the team's efforts but hopes even more improvements can be made by the Gators next game.

He said to prevent the team from becoming overconfident in games such as last Friday's he substitutes players freely.

"I start substituting

when it becomes obvious they're (Gators) going to win. When the team starts letting up, we start substituting...when that lets up, there is a chance for possible injury too," he said.

The Gators will be playing John Carroll

from Ft. Pierce this

Friday night, Sept. 28,

at the Glades Day

field.

"They're (John Carroll) going to throw the ball a lot so we have to get our pass defense ready," Walker said.

"They will be the biggest team we will play

all year in terms of the size of the players so we'll have to be ready.

"We are unbeaten and we want to stay unbeaten as long as possible. We would like to have a perfect

season again."

The Gators coach

said the Glades Day football had a perfect season only once in the school's history and "some people don't realize this."

Blue Devils drop heartbreaker

PAHOKEE - For the second time in three weeks the Pahokee High School football team came within a hair of victory, only to lose 7-6 to Suncoast Saturday, Sept. 22.

The Blue Devils saw a fourth quarter touchdown which would have won the game called back when officials ruled that receiver Kenny Berry had stepped out of bounds before catching a 40-yard bomb from Pernille McElroy.

The loss dropped Pahokee's season mark to 1-2. Only two points separate the Blue Devils from a tied record. They dropped their season opener to Glades Central two weeks ago in a 7-6 heart breaker.

Pahokee Coach Don Thompson said, "This loss is weighing real hard on the boys, they're having a hard time with it."

However, with a game coming up this Thursday night at Atlantic High School, Thompson expressed confidence that his team would be ready. "I expect a full rebound," he said.

Friday's night game was a defensive battle. Suncoast jumped on the scoreboard first with a 30-yard second quarter touchdown pass and then converted the all important extra point for a 7-0 lead.

The Blue Devils came back in the third quarter with the bomb to Berry which was called back.

"We were just flat," Thompson said, summing up the team's performance. He noted that some disciplinary action taken before the game had a disquieting effect on the team.

"We have to learn to play again as a team," he said. "We need to come together."

"In a loss like that it's hard to pinpoint many bright things, but I think the boy's desire to fight right to the end was positive," Thompson noted.

At Atlantic, the Blue Devils are going to face a fine 3A football team, Thompson said. Atlantic, 2-1, features a strong double wing running attack and poses quite a challenge.

"If we play our best we've got a real shot at it," Thompson said. "And I think we will come together, I think the fans are going to see a real fine football team."

Raiders blank PB Gardens 20-0

BELLE GLADE - A stingy defense and a revitalized offense led the Glades Central football Raiders to a 20-0 blanking of Palm Beach Gardens Friday, Sept. 21.

For the first time this season, the Raider offense scored more than one touchdown in a game, while the defense chalked up their first shutout. The victory lifted Glades Central's record to 2-1.

Coach Dan Brown said the game was his squad's best showing of the year. "I knew anytime our offense would start clicking, we'd score some points because our defense has just been real strong all year," he said.

The Raiders' first touchdown came on a 13-yard pass from Kenny Hammond to Atlantic Beach's Mike Hargrave. The Raiders missed the extra point attempt.

Brown said the game's turning point came with the Raider's second touchdown in the third period when back Darryl Sanders broke free from 10 yards out. The Raiders then connected on a two point conversion with Hammond scooting for a 14-0 lead.

"At that point I thought the kids were starting to play better," Brown said. "It was the first time all year we scored more than one touchdown and that really helped us."

Tony Lawrence accounted for the Raiders' third tally late in the game with a six-yard run. Again, the conversion attempt failed.

Palm Beach Gardens' main scoring threat came late in the opening period as they drove all the way to Glades Central's 3-yard line. However, Roy Bailey picked off a pass in the end zone to preserve Raider shutout hopes.

Offensively, the Raiders tallied 209 yards including 124 yards on the ground. Brown credited his offensive line with keying the return attack. "The line did a much better job this week in opening up both our running and passing game," he said.

Running back Sanders, Lawrence and John Hubbard all had solid games running the football, Brown said. Receiver Tony Moore also played well, he added.

Defensively, Glades Central allowed only 31 rushing yards, Brown said. "The defense did a tremendous job, that's been our forte through the first three weeks."

Linebacker Johnny Ivery led the Raider defense with 10 tackles and played an outstanding game, Brown said. Defensive end Eugene Lawson was the Raider's unsung hero, he added, with two fumble recoveries and a batted down pass.

This Friday night, Sept. 28 the Raiders travel to Boca Raton High School to face surprising Spanish River. They have amassed a 2-0 record, beating two 4A teams.

Brown said Spanish River, a district rival, has an excellent running game grounding out over 300 yards last week. "We're going to have to play tough defense, just tough overall football," he said.

Crusaders drop 14-8 decision to Westminster

BELLE GLADE - The Crusader offense showed some spunk late in the game, but couldn't quite catch up with Fort Lauderdale-Westminster in a 14-8 game Saturday, Sept. 22.

Jo Jo Ramos, who led all rushers with 96 yards on 16 carries, scored the Crusader points on a 1-yard run in the fourth quarter to tighten the 14-0 Westminster lead.

Coach John Jacks said he "felt real good" with Saturday's results because "they began to get a little experience."

"We didn't do as well in the first half-our secondary was weak and threw over our heads and the offensive line wasn't blocking as well as we should have," the Crusader coach said. "But by the second half I think like we did a real good job. They started blocking and we started generating a little offense."

Jacks credited some of the team's improvement to David Chamberly who caught four passes to set up the touchdown.

And since the Crusader starting quarterback was hurt, Timmy Clark filled the position.

"We started working him (Clark) and I thought he did a fairly good job for his first time at that position," Jacks said.

Christian Day is now preparing for this week's game against

Kings Academy.

West Palm Beach, a team with a 0-3 record.

"They always play us a tough ball game,"

Jacks said. "If we can give the quarterback plenty of rush from the inside and contain the outside run then I think we'll be alright."
